I understand that the American Academy of Dermatology and Dr. Holloway personally, recommends a total body examination of the skin on an annual basis.

The purpose of the exam is mainly to check for skin cancers, although any skin disease disorder will be addressed.

This exam will increase the chances of discovering skin cancers at an early stage, when the cure rate, especially for melanoma, is the highest.

Other reasons you should have a skin exam:
- Suspicious moles or skin lesions
- Symptoms of early skin cancer
- A history of previous skin cancer
- 50 or more moles
- Atypical (unusual) or large moles
- A family history of skin cancer

While most insurance companies do cover the full body exam because it is a preventative measure, it is not a guarantee. ***
